Meet our School Holidays Brands + Specialists:

Children have this innate ability to live in the moment, and not worry about what has just happened or what is about to happen, Alysse from Young Yoga aims to encourage this mindful practice to children of all ages. Yoga is the experience that positively encourages children to maintain that natural ability into teenage and adulthood, regardless of life's social, financial or circumstantial stresses.

Every time a product is thrown away, all the materials and energy that went into its initial production go to waste. Their value is wiped out. Forever. At Reverse Garbage, our role is to save materials from going to waste in landfill and to renew their value by making them available for reuse by families, students, artists and community groups. In Reverse Garbage workshops the kids will get the chance to design and make something to take home with them, as well as being encouraged to think about sustainability and the value of creative reuse.

Su-en created the Little Bumblebees Learning Program so that children could experience the wonder and curiosity of technology through games and activity. She holds a doctorate in computer science where she crafted computers to turn the tables on hackers (called a HoneyPot) and this led to a decade working in federal government cyber security. Su-en now spends her days exploring different ways to capture the hearts and minds of children to embrace Science Technology Engineering and Maths (STEM).
