Fun!

N U<sup>B</sup> O

Our second School Holiday Fun is here and we can't wait for you to join us!

We've carefully curated an enriching program for your beautiful family. A passionate team of Early Years educators and specialists will deliver an immersive experience by providing support, expert advice and useful tips for parents in areas such as STEM and nutrition.

Each exciting workshop includes complimentary coffee or tea. We also have some extra surprises in store for you; well-loved activities scheduled on Wednesdays, Fridays and weekends across both centres. You'll have to book in on those days to see what they are :)

Get ready to have some serious fun and learn lots of cool things.

We love to collaborate!

Meet our School Holidays Brands + Specialists:

Children have an innate ability to live in the moment and not worry about what has just happened or what is about to happen. Alysse from Young Yoga aims to encourage this mindful practice for children of all ages. Yoga is the experience that positively encourages children to keep that natural ability into their teenage years and adulthood, regardless of life's social, financial, or circumstantial challenges.

The WeDo Game is a collection of 30 creative, fun, screen-free activities for families to do together. Created by a young Sydney family, the game promotes quality family time without phones, laptops, or TVs. Described as a smart parenting tool, The WeDo Game has won numerous national awards and inspired thousands of families to disconnect and reconnect.

Zoe Mead is a clinical nutritionist who currently works across a number of health promotional programs for the South Eastern Sydney Local Health District, including Go4Fun and Munch & Move. Due to her own journey with Crohn's disease, an inflammatory bowel disease, and the loss of a loved one to a cardiovascular disease, Zoe has a passion for preventative health, believing that good nutrition is required to live a full and productive life.

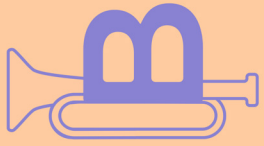

Angie Kotsornithis is a government-accredited infant massage educator and a registered nurse with early childhood experience. Angie also has a background as a wellness coach and experience in stress management. She incorporates all her experience into running her infant massage group sessions.

Su-en created the Little Bumblebees Learning Program so children could experience the wonder and curiosity of technology through games and activities. Su-en holds a doctorate in computer science and has crafted computers to turn the tables on hackers (called a HoneyPot), which led to a decade working in cybersecurity for the federal government. Su-en now spends her days exploring ways to capture the hearts and minds of children to embrace Science Technology Engineering and Math (STEM).

Perform Day

Sing & Imagine

Singer/songwriter Sammy will guide the children to shake and groove, scream and shout to her awesome original songs performed live. There will be instruments for kids to use and also time to make their own so they can take it home and continue to practice. It's a little NUBO orchestra to appeal to the karaoke star in all of us.
